
Associated Press

URGES CONGRESS TO ACT ON PRIVACY: Former President Gerald R. Ford at a convocation at New York University Law School yesterday with, from left, Judge Charles Proessel; William M. Jeffords; Prof. Myers McDougal, one of Mr. Ford's professors at Yale Law School, and Donald Shapiro, dean of the N.Y.U. Law School. Mr Ford, the featured speaker, urged Congrees to re-examine the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act, two pieces of legislation that, in his view, have not had the effect desired by their proponents.